A New Hair Due.

Silver salts have so long held the field as a hair dye that some interest attaches to the German proposal to use paraphenyldiamine for the same purpose. The invention is pro-tected by patent, and the details as revealed by specifications are somewhat wanting in clearnees. From this it appears that the hair is first well brushed with a solution of twenty grammes paraphenyldiamine and fourteen grammes caustic soda in a liter of water, and then washed with a 3 per cent solution of hydrogen peroxide. In the course of a day the hair becomes very dark and, by repeating the application, of a blue-bisck color, but if "a three per cent. iron oxide solution" is added to the hydrogen peroxide the color produced is brown.
